

I'm writing to support XM radio and their continued effort to diversify a single-minded industry with new innovations and programming for consumers. Why should a service that I pay for be put on the chopping block because an out of date organization feels they've lost their edge. XM radio offers quality like none other. Taking my favorite music coast to coast. Why shouldn't I be able to listen to my favorite radio station in crystal clear quality? I ask you to reconsider NAB's petition 04-160 and keep the market open for trailblazers like XM radio.
